

Task 1- Solution (WB p. 47 no. 2)

1. it became a part of China, but the people in Tibet were promised freedom of speech and the freedom to keep their own language, religion and culture

2. China did not keep its promise. It destroyed most of the Tibetan monasteries (Klöster) and made Chinese the first language of Tibet. Since 1951 thousands of Chinese settlers have moved to Tibet.